

Social landlords are obliged to make an energy performance certificate (EPC) available to prospective new tenants or buyers.

With our unrivalled knowledge of housing management solutions and our experience in the EPC market we are uniquely placed to provide a fully integrated EPC solution, whether you want to produce your own EPCs or you're looking to outsource to expert partners.

Energy Performance Certificates for Social Housing

Helping Social Housing tenants be energy efficient

Cut your overheads, protect your staff and speed up survey time by using Northgate EPC Mobile integrated with Northgate Portal or Housing Mgt software. You'll have the fastest and most efficient administration system in the industry

- Less paperwork
- Less travel
- Less risk
- 20-25 more EPC surveys per DEA per month
- Excellent customer service

Northgate operates market leading; Government approved Energy Assessor accreditation schemes, UK wide, including Domestic on-construction assessment.

What is an EPC?

It provides two key things:

- A rating of the energy performance of your property in the form of an A-G graph similar to those used on domestic appliances.
- A set of recommendations indicating what actions can be undertaken to improve the energy performance of the property.

Why do I need one?

- It's a statutory requirement under the European Energy Performance of Building Directive.

- The recommendations report gives valuable information which will enhance understanding of your stock and help you assess the environmental impact on your local community and national programs.

- The EPC also gives information to your tenants about the environmental impact of your property and if recommendations are carried out this will provide your tenants with a real and visible reduction in their energy bills.

How do I get one?

You may be considering keeping the work in house; using your existing surveyors to produce EPCs.

Or

Because Northgate EPC Mobile can reduce the time to conduct an EPC survey, you can do more with your own staff or free up time for other duties.

Are you considering a third party specialist EPC provider to undertake the work for you? Yes; Northgate has UK wide access to Domestic Energy Assessors (DEAs) or On Construction Energy Assessors (OCDEAs) - required for newly built dwellings, through key partners who provide high quality nation wide coverage with guaranteed turnaround SLAs.

How can I produce EPCs using my existing in-house resources?

Northgate can provide you with a full end to end solution including; training, accreditation, EPC production and lodgment and housing energy management.

How much will it cost?

For an in-house solution there is an initial cost to train and accredit your surveyors, while the cost of using the Northgate EPC software and lodgment fees with the central government register will be covered by a single low cost payment for each EPC created.

If you wish to integrate the data with your housing management software, an initial set up charge is all you need to pay

If you decide to use a third party provider, recommended by Northgate, our partners will produce EPCs for you at the commercial rate

Why you should consider speaking to Northgate
