

Northgate Codeman

Improve data quality; minimise errors

Northgate's software capability and accreditation scheme, combined with Mobile solutions and Work Management means Northgate can provide the highest quality solution for the lowest unit cost, per EPC, in the sector.

What do Northgate offer?

Northgate have a highly skilled and experienced energy efficiency department, and have utilised this knowledge within the Codeman product to provide a highly integrated EPC solution, for Codeman customers.

Additionally, Northgate Energy seamlessly integrates with Northgate Housing, offering a unique "one-stop shop" for housing, including, social housing, asset management and energy efficiency.

We operate market leading, quality focused accreditation schemes and energy expertise for all types and levels of Energy Assessor - nationwide (including Scotland). Northgate Energy has our own fully approved RdSAP calculation engine and EPC lodgement functionality.

Combined with our accreditation scheme, the EPC software and Codeman are under "one roof", so we can offer unrivalled service and process efficiency. We also offer industry expertise and advice for compliance, while being able to advise how to improve the energy efficiency of your stock.

Maintain high standards, through better quality information

"Let's make change work"

Submit your data, automatically, seamlessly, and in real time.

Easy to use, high quality data

The software offers the intuitive question-based interface and onsite data capture validation, ensuring nothing is overlooked and avoiding wasteful return visits because of missed data.

Simple data input, via drop-down selection menus, including an integrated SEDBUK boiler database, minimises the amount of text input, and improves the quality of your inspections.

Finally, the software automatically synchronises with the Northgate EPC portal, through Codeman, allowing the information to be submitted seamlessly and in real time, into the Northgate EPC portal.

The lodged data is then automatically returned to Codeman from the Northgate EPC portal along with the EPC and the SAP and CO₂ results.

Benefits

- High quality data capture method improves data quality and minimises errors
